

Vixxo Integrated Facilities Management

Pressure to perform and excel in your business is unrelenting. Maintaining a budget and managing your key performance metrics while improving service delivery is a balancing act.

Managing your facilities is no different. The drive for efficiency, along with financial constraints and the desire for day-to-day control, can drive businesses to manage their own facility maintenance. However, without proper oversight, an estimated 70% of service providers will overbill. Apply that to multiple locations across your footprint, and the amount you may be overpaying for maintenance becomes significant - and that's not even factoring in overcharges for parts & materials.

Vixxo's Integrated Facilities Management approach is designed with two goals in mind – keeping you operating efficiently and saving time and money while doing it.
